

We the people have rights to listen to whatever we want to. Have you forgotten about free speech? It is amazing that you allow soft porn and violence to run wildly all over national television for any of our children of tomorrow to take in at any given time and you don't stop them. Yet, when it comes to statelite radio that is paid for by person over the age of 18 years of age you want to take away our rights. When it boils down to the issue at hand the problem isn't the free speech you are worried about. The problem is that people in National Broadcasting are attempting to bribe the representatives so that they might not have to compete with this type of product that completely out preforms over their products. I will vote against any repretatives that try to make problems against statelite radio.

Sincerly,
